

Eagle Eye

Through the Eye of an Eagle

First Home Football game

By Alexander Wren

Academic Dates
and Deadlines

October 6th:
SAT

October 14th:
PSAT

October 16th:
AR deadline, 9
points

November 20th:
AR deadline, 14
points

HELP!
Squirmy is lost on the newspaper.
If you are the first person to show Mrs.
Miller that you have found him,
you will be rewarded with FREE ice cream.

Let's kick off the first of fall with our first home football game. It was an extremely hard fought battle. The final score was 35-0 in favor of Wewoka. Warner fought valiantly. According to Andrew McKay, a highschool football player, "I don't think much went wrong during the game. I just think we were outplayed, but if I had to nit-pick, I'd say that [Wewoka's] quarterback had a good scramble." Warner's athletes have been practicing fortuitously for this upcoming season, and it really showed during the away game against Savannah.

In preparation for the first home game, the video production class worked their tails off putting together the football hype video and filming the game. This class has been offered for two years. In this time, they have done a great job of making all the games more entertaining for the crowd.

For this event, the Warner Cheer Team has practiced their cheers religiously and routinely. The annual cheer competitions have been rescheduled for later this year. A couple of cheerleaders are disappointed about this, but some are happy because they'll have more time to practice and prepare.

The Pride of the Eagles, Warner's marching band, has been practicing every day for the upcoming games. They are preparing their marching routines for the home and away games. All the band competitions have been cancelled as a result of COVID-19. Some band students are not all too disappointed about this as they mainly look forward to the football season.

Senior night also took place at the game. Seniors that participated were Trace Elders, Haiden Peters, Kaitlyn Elkins, Katie Love Hart, Hannah Howard, Connor Parks, Brody James Cannon, Racheal Teal, Kylie Ann Carlton, Audrey Brooks, Austin Horton, Redman Glisson, Peyton Nicole Patterson, Eric Anderson, Harley Ray, Abby Jane Hayes, Merci Swimmer, Eloise Thomas, Hannah Powell, Trevor Capps, Jesse Miller, Hayleigh Boswell, and Taylor Hopson. Seniors were honored because we value our seniors here at Warner. We would like to commemorate them for their accomplishments during their high school years.

Check the football schedule for upcoming games. Come support our Eagles!

Student Spotlight

By Brandon Bailey

Katie Hart

- 1.) Q: "How do you try and help others?" A: "I try to lead by example, and it's very important that others do the same."
- 2.) Q: "Do you think all of your hard work should be rewarded?" A: "If you do good, you should receive good."
- 3.) Q: "Do you see yourself continuing to help others in life?" A: "Yes, that's what I hope, I want to help others to guide the way."

Helping Squirmy

By Hayleigh Boswell

When school starts in August, the main issue Squirmy has is being disorganized. Coordinating activities, papers, and books is commonly disorienting after a long stretch of time. Due to this, all grades, from seniors to seventh grade, can be disorderly and cluttered. Squirmy is no exception. One of the most common places for this to occur is his locker. Most of the time, he just tosses books and papers in his locker and fishes them out when needed. This takes up more time during passing period, often making Squirmy late to English. Mrs. Howdeshell suggests, "I would take the trash can to the locker and empty my locker and anything I don't need in the trash and then put the trashcan back." Following this advice every few weeks could help a lot in terms of clutter and neatness. Let's learn from Squimyy to be organized this school year.

Effects of COVID-19 on our School Year

By Andrew McKay

As we all know, Covid 19 has affected our school year. Warner freshman, Blaine Scott says, "I do feel very safe. I don't have any worries." Warner Public Schools has put new precautions and rules into practice. Social distancing is being followed by staying six feet away from everyone if possible. Instead of using water fountains, students are provided a free water bottle each day that can be refilled at stations throughout the school. Students have taken to using lunch cards again to minimize time spent near people. Students now must spread out during lunch to maintain social distancing. Temperatures are checked on the bus and at the two entrances each morning, and students who are exposed are being sent home for fourteen calendar days.

Even though these are the precautions the school is taking, it doesn't mean there isn't more you, as a Warner Eagle, can do. For instance, use hand sanitizer frequently. Don't borrow items from other students. I recommend a mask, but I understand that some people feel choked or uncomfortable when wearing one, and that's ok. If you feel sick, stay home and do your work online. These are just some of the extra precautions you can take to help out Warner. This year has changed tremendously, but your fellow Eagles have your back. The Warner Eagles will get through this together.

Fall Sports & Activities

By Levi Lewis

This school year, it is anticipated that the Eagles will perform fantastically in all sports and activities. "Warner schools expects greatness," said principal Mr. Hummingbird, who is also the athletic director for Warner High School.

Softball recently competed in a tournament on September 10th and 12th. They didn't win the tournament, but it was a hard fought battle.

According to Mr. Hummingbird, the regional and state cheerleading competitions have been postponed until the winter months. In the meantime, the cheerleaders will continue to cheer on the Eagles.

Cross country is doing well and has strong runners in both middle school and high school. They have been to meets at Okemah and Kiefer.

Football has started strong this year winning their first game at Savannah 37-0! They will continue to do great and make us proud.

Band has been practicing and playing on Friday nights at home football games. They have been practicing, but there are no competitions.

The Academic Pursuit Team (APT) has been preparing for a successful season, but they have no known upcoming meets or events at this time.

Upcoming Extracurricular Events:

September 29th -
Fastpitch softball
@ Sallisaw - JH 4:30
PM and HS 6:00 PM
CC @ Wister 4:15

October 2nd -
High school
football @ Colcord
- 7:00 PM
CC @ OBU 3:10

October 3rd -
JH/Elem CC
@Maryetta

October 5th - Ninth grade
football vs.
Talihina - Home
Seventh and Eighth grade
football vs.
Talihina - Home -
6:00 PM
CC @ Checotah

October 12th -
Ninth grade
football @ Gore
Seventh and Eighth grade football @
Gore - 6:00 PM

October 13th -
CC @ Byng - 4:30

October 15th -
High school
football vs.
Talihina - Home -
7:00 PM